WILDCAT WAY TO PROFESSIONAL SUCCESS

At the University of New Hampshire, students develop personal and professional skills by following the Wildcat Way to Professional Success. This model is designed to provide guidance and recommended action steps throughout the UNH experience, equipping students with the knowledge and tools to thrive in an ever-changing future.

EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING

Learning happens not only in the classroom and on campus, but also, and equally as important, through hands-on interactions and engagement with industry, national labs, NSF-REUs, and other organizations and partners. Experiential learning helps students to "connect the dots" and explore the link between academic interests and potential career paths. Students participate in experiential learning at a variety of sites, including:

- BAE Systems
- NASA
- The Johns Hopkins Applied Physics Lab
- Microsoft
- Raytheon
- University of New Hampshire

GRADUATE SCHOOL

Graduates from the CEPS Class of 2017 enrolled in masters and doctoral programs at the following institutions:

- University of New Hampshire
- Clemson University
- Colorado State University
- Duke University
- Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute
- Stanford University
- Technical University of Munich
- Texas A&M
- Tufts University
- University of Colorado Boulder
- University of Michigan

POTENTIAL CAREERS

Engineering Physics

If you're interested in a career in engineering physics, job prospects vary with different occupations in the field. The U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) projected average job growth for physicists at 14 percent from 2016 to 2026 (www.bls.gov). In addition, the BLS expected jobs for aerospace engineers to grow 6 percent from 2016 to 2026, about as fast as the average for all occupations, while jobs for materials engineers will experience slight growth at 2% from 2016-2026. Potential careers include, but are not limited to:

- Material Scientist
- Acoustics Engineering
- Aerospace Engineering
- Nuclear Engineering
- Physicist
